Sophomores, Juniors Receive Interest Cards

Interest cards for positions in student government next year have been distributed to 800 sophomores and juniors with a minimum grade average of 2.5, Joseph R. McNamara Jr., chairman of Student Leadership and Service Board, has announced.

Open positions in student government include the seven student body boards, Student Court, and University committees.

"From the interest cards that are returned, interviews will be set up, starting late this month and continuing into next semester," said McNamara.

Appointments will be made to the Student Spirit and Traditions Board and the Student Orientation Board by March 11, in accordance with the Student Council constitutional amendment which was passed last spring.

The remainder of the boards, University committees, and Student Court appointments will be made later in the spring.

In contrast to last year when only sophomores and juniors were considered for the various appointments, freshmen will be considered and interviewed after the first semester ends and grades have been distributed, McNamara said.

"The Leadership and Service Board encourages a prompt return of the interest cards so that interviews can get under way and everyone that displays an interest can be interviewed. The Board requests any qualified sophomore or junior who has not received an interest card and would like to be considered for one of these positions to stop at the Student Activities Office on the ground floor of Moseley Hall and pick up one," said McNamara.

Further Discussion By AWS Slated For Deficiency List Issue

The Legislative Board of the Association of Women Students discussed raising, lowering, or maintaining the deficiency grade at its open meeting Tuesday. No decision will be made until further discussion is held.

Nancy A. Nilson, chairman of the Deficiency Committee, gave a report based on advice from academic deans, questionnaires sent to sorority and residence hall scholarship chairmen, and statistics from the office of the dean of women.

There are 1,734 women (excluding freshmen women) living in the residence halls and sorority houses. Of these, 480 women, or 27.68 per cent, are on deficiency.

Of the academic deans asked for advice, all agreed that the deficiency grade is too high. Some believed that the academic warning should be used as a level.

It was suggested that women on deficiency utilize the hours between classes to better advantage.

Twenty-two questionnaires were received. Fourteen sorority houses and residence halls were for lowering the deficiency grade; six were for raising it, while two were for keeping the 2.2 minimum grade average but changing the penalty rules.

Some of the reasons for wanting to lower the deficiency minimum were that a 2.0 is an average grade, which ought to be sufficient. Some women thought the penalty rules were unfair, as upperclasswomen lose both their later and their 11 p.m. permission when on deficiency, while the underclasswomen only lose their later.

In defense of raising the deficiency grade average, it was mentioned that this would help raise the scholastic standard and would be an effective stimulus for improved studying.

Over 130 women, in addition to Legislative Board members, attended the open meeting.

Student Court Hears 14 Cases

Twelve of the 14 cases heard by Student Court Monday involved parking violations.

Terry D. McLean, Michael E. Pheneger, Wayne P. Walters, and Mark J. Zetzer were found guilty in absentia of their first parking offense and were fined $1 each.

Found guilty in absentia for their first and second parking offenses were Larry T. Miller and Ron C. Shawl. Both were fined $1 for their first violations and $3 for the second, plus a week's suspension of driving privileges.

Kenneth L. Chambers was found guilty of his second parking violation. He was fined $3 and was ordered to attend three consecutive court sessions.

For his third parking offense, Richard A. Jordan was found guilty and was fined $10. In addition, he was given a three-week suspension of his driving privileges.

Russell M. McCombs was found guilty of his first parking offense and was fined $1. He also was fined $25 for non-registration of his automobile.

Charlene E. Alberts was found guilty of non-registration of her automobile, but the fine was suspended.

Harold L. Biggerstaff reopened his case. He had been found guilty in absentia for his second parking violation. Although Student Court still found him guilty, his fine was suspended and his driving privileges were restored.

Fined $5 for contempt of court was David M. McEwen. He again was cited for contempt of court because he did not attend the Monday session.

WOWO Broadcasts 2 Radio Programs Featuring BG Campus

The second of two programs recorded on campus will be presented by Radio WOWO, Fort Wayne, at 12:15 p.m. Saturday.

"One Moment Please," a program consisting of student interviews obtained in the Union, features questions concerning reasons for coming to Bowling Green, students' studies, and post-graduation plans.

The first program, "PM On Campus," was broadcast last night. Participants in this program were Wallace W. Taylor, dean of men, James R. Gordon, director of news and photo services, Ann K. Scherry, editor of the NEWS, Thomas J. Stellers, editor of the Key, and William T. Tsui, photo editor of the Key.

Hilda C. Wehrmeyer, director of the programs, said that the two programs were produced to inform the WOWO listeners of what others in the WOWO broadcasting range are doing.

Charges Filed Against Fienberg; New By-Law Introduced By IFC

Charges have been filed with the judicial board of Inter-Fraternity Council concerning the removal of the IFC president from office, said Richard Bradley, IFC executive vice president, in a committee report from the judicial board at the IFC meeting Monday night.

In making the charges a number of statements in University publications were cited and later presented in writing to Ross F. Fienberg, IFC president. These are as follows:

"On page 72 of the College Catalog it states: 'A student on warning because of unsatisfactory academic standing must follow a restricted program as follows: He shall not take part as a performer, an officer, or an active participant in any intercollegiate activity, meeting or conference.'"

"It also states in the Student Handbook, page 56, Constitution of the Student Body, Article II, Qualifications for Office, numbers one and six, the scholastic requirements for a member of student council as presented by the student body must be a 2.5 cumulative point average.

"The Constitution of the Interfraternity Council states in Article XI number 1, Duties of the Officers of the Interfraternity Council that: 'He shall serve on or represent the Council on any University committee where his presence is deemed necessary.'"

"In Article IX, Section II the Constitution states: 'An officer may be removed from office for failure to follow and support the aims and purposes of the Interfraternity Council.'"

"Article III of the Interfraternity Council Constitution, Purpose, states that it is the purpose of the Interfraternity Council to promote the intellectual, cultural and social life of the fraternity man.

"In Article IV of the Interfraternity Council Constitution, Aims, one of the aims is: 'To promote intellectual, cultural, and social life among the students of the University.'"

An open trial to hear these charges is scheduled for 3:30 this afternoon in the Student Court Room in the basement of Moseley Hall.

The resignation of James Lengua, administrative vice president, was handed in at the meeting Monday evening, to become effective when his replacement is chosen. A committee meeting of senior representatives to IFC will be held at 9 p.m. Monday in the Taft Room to nominate candidates for administrative vice president.

A new by-law was voted into the constitution at the meeting.

The by-law concerns the reinstatement to active fraternity status of a man who has previously dropped out of school or who has been dropped as a pledge by a fraternity.

The resolution states that "any man wishing to be reinstated by a fraternity must have a 2.0 grade average the semester prior to reinstatement, or a 2.0 cumulative average, and must register with the IFC office before reinstatement for the purpose of checking grades."

The resolution goes into effect immediately.

A motion to form an Interfraternity Pledge Council failed to pass the necessary two-thirds majority by one vote.

In other business, the Council decided to invite guest speakers to IFC meetings to deliver short talks on the various problems facing both the fraternity system and the campus as a whole.

Among the list of problems drawn up by Council members was the lack of pay telephones and the housing of non-Greek students in fraternity houses.

Major Brooks D. Anderson, director of security, is the tentatively scheduled initial speaker. He will discuss the problem of parking space for students.

Kohl Phone Numbers Incorrect

Persons calling women living in Kohl Hall are requested to match the women's room numbers with the extensions listed under the University telephone section in the front of the new University Directory.

The phone numbers are listed correctly for Kohl Hall in that section, but after the residents' names, only three extension numbers are used.

"Calling the correct number the first time will speed up switchboard operation and make use of the available phones in Kohl Hall," said Miss Harriet Daniels, Kohl head resident.

Basketball Tickets For Faculty On Sale

Sale of basketball season tickets, and pick up of tickets by holders of faculty combination football-basketball season tickets will begin today at the athletic office in Memorial Hall, according to Prof. Forrest Creason, athletic ticket director.

Distribution and sale of faculty season tickets will close Nov. 20.

Season tickets for faculty or staff for the 11 home games are $10 for the bench seats and $15 for the chair seats.

If persons who purchased the combination season tickets do not pick up the basketball tickets before the Nov. 20 deadline, the tickets will be mailed to them, Mr. Creason said.

The ticket office will be open daily, Monday through Friday 9-12 a.m. and 1-4 p.m.

Students who wish to purchase tickets for parents or others may do so at the above hours for the off-campus price of $22 for the season.

PanHel Increases Sorority Rush Fee

The rush registration fee for formal sorority rush which begins Feb. 1 has been increased from $1 to $2.

Panhellenic Council increased the fee because of the increasing expense of the formal rush program.

At its Nov. 6 meeting, Panhellenic Council also decided to appoint a committee to consider raising grade requirements of Council members from the present minimum grade average of 2.2.

The next meeting of Panhellenic Council will be at 4 p.m. Monday in the Taft Room.

'Medea' Tickets To Go On Sale

Tickets will go on sale for "Medea," the third University Theatre major production, Monday in the Joe E. Brown Theatre box office from 10 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 4 p.m.

The tickets will be 10 cents with ID cards for University students, 25 cents for high school students and children, and $1 for adults.

"Medea" will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, Nov. 16 through 18, in the Main Auditorium. Additional tickets also will be on sale at the door at 7 p.m.

U.S. Fires Sixth Polaris Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL—The nuclear submarine U.S.S. Ethan Allen yesterday successfully fired its sixth Polaris missile from the depths of the Atlantic Ocean.

The 410-foot vessel, sixth and largest member of America's fleet of missile-launching subs, blasted the rocket from a launching tube in its deck at about 11:10 a.m. EST.

The 28-foot Polaris soared about 1,500 miles in 20 minutes—the sixth success in as many submerged launchings for the 6,900-ton Ethan Allen.

RICHMOND—The crash of a chartered Super Constellation with 74 Army Recruits aboard and a crew of five was the worst aviation disaster in the United States involving a non-military plane since the crash last September of another Constellation near Chicago in which 78 persons died.

The crash Wednesday night of the Imperial Airlines four-engined airliner killed 77 persons. There were two survivors, the pilot and the flight engineer.

Degree Requirements Faculty Group Topic

The faculty of the College of Liberal Arts met Nov. 1 for the purpose of discussing proposed changes in its requirements for the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science.

The main topic was a proposed change in the language requirement for the bachelor of science degree from the College of Liberal Arts.

The proposal would require a minimum of six credit hours of language for the B.S. degree.

The matter will be given further discussion when the faculty meets again on Dec. 6.

Freshman Officers To Be Nominated

The freshman class officer nominating convention will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Ohio Suite, said Mary Ann McCoy, chairman of the Student Elections Board.

Any freshman wishing to run for a class officer must have one person at the convention to nominate him, and another person to second the nomination. If nominated, he then must obtain a petition form at the convention, which must be signed by 25 freshmen. The petitions are to be turned in to the Elections Board by next Friday.

Freshmen class elections will be held Nov. 30.

A University Flag

Many flags are presently being flown on the campus.

In addition to the American flag, the MAC flags, the Union flag, and the flag of the State of Ohio are displayed. One is noticeably missing—the University flag.

The flag standards next to Promenade Lounge in the Union are designed for three flags, and the slot which is supposed to hold the University flag is empty.

Let's have a University flag.

The NEWS office will accept suggested designs for a University flag. These may be submitted by any persons connected with the University. They should be on 8½ by 11 paper, and colors should be designated. The designer's name and address should be printed on the back of the sheet.

Designs sent to the NEWS will be forwarded to the President's Office. President Harshman has said that if any outstanding designs are submitted they will be considered and presented to the student body for a vote. The design chosen will be sent to the Board of Trustees.

Entries should be mailed to the assistant managing editor at the NEWS office.

Library Science Open Career Field; 2 Courses Offered

Librarianship has become increasingly attractive as a career in recent years, said A. Robert Rogers, acting director of the library.

Starting salaries are now 70 per cent higher than in 1951. There is ample opportunity for advancement and professional growth. In fact the greatest crisis facing the profession today is the shortage of librarians. Some 18,000 positions in the nation's 62,000 libraries are now vacant, he said.

An undergraduate minor in library science, which more than meets the requirements of the State of Ohio for a provisional certificate, is offered at Bowling Green, said Mr. Rogers. This certificate allows a graduate with the requisite courses in education and related subjects to serve as a school librarian for grades seven through 12.

Official Announcements

The final date for the removal of incomplete grades received during the second semester 1960-61 and the 1961 summer school is Friday, Dec. 1. No incompletes may be removed from a student's record after that date without special permission of the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled.

Two courses in library science are to be offered during the next semester. They are Library Science 304, cataloging and classification, and Library Science 490.

The maximum size for these classes is 15 to 20. Students who are interested may contact the library science department.

SPIRIT POSTERS used for the home campaign during World War I and a collection of newspapers dating from before World War I were presented this week to A. Robert Rogers, acting director of the Library, by William M. Rosenthal Jr., on behalf of his grandfather, S. Fred Rosenthal of Cleveland.

PTA Atmosphere One Of Chaos; Writer Becomes Social Outcast

By Jerry Wolfrom

No matter how hard I kicked, cried, and lied, I couldn't get out of attending a PTA meeting with my 11-year-old son last week.

Steve is in the sixth grade and he somehow manages to con me into sweating out at least one of these swinging sessions each year.

Immediately after entering the school building I sensed that something was wrong. Then it dawned on me—I was the only father in the place wearing a Polynesian sport shirt and sneakers. The other fathers appeared neatly garbed in conservative, well-tailored business suits.

Steve's classes are held in four different rooms and he has a corresponding number of teachers. Each child gets a gold star if he is able to drag his parents to this coming-out event of the year.

Good father that I am, I attempted to introduce myself to Steve's teachers so that he could get his little gold star. I failed in this mission because everywhere I went I found that a lynch mob had each teacher treed.

PTA night is an evening of sheer terror for kids and teachers alike. Only the mothers get a bang out of it. PTA gives these doting females a chance to get all gussied up and spend several hours cornering our poor, underpaid educators.

While attending this social problem I heard such remarks as "Oh, Mr. Blank, my little Debbie simply loves you." Or "I can't possibly tell you, Miss Blank, what a tremendous influence you have been on our little Debbie." Or "Mrs. Blank, my Debbie talks about you all the time."

For some strange reason every girl in the sixth grade is named Debbie. (This social problem will be discussed in a later column.)

While this classic bit of apple-polishing is going on, little Debbie, who is 40 pounds overweight, is punching little Johnnie in the snout.

And then there are the PTA committees. Our PTA has thousands of these monsters. We have the flower committee, the window committee, the floor committee, and the committee's committee. It is the latter's job to dream up new committees.

I usually am asked to serve on several of these committees but since I wore my Polynesian shirt and sneakers, the nominating committee has been rather cool toward me.

Perhaps the greatest injustice of all is inflicted on the defenseless school principal. Mothers arrange themselves in lines three and four blocks long to put the whammy on him.

During these mother-principal sessions such questions are heard as "How dare you raise your voice to my Johnnie? All he did was steal the hub caps from the custodian's car."

The PTA also serves another function. It is a gathering place for the socialite set. It gives the community's "Upper 400" a chance to exchange ribald bits of country club gossip.

Meanwhile, their neglected offspring are running rampant through the halls, smashing windows and burning textbooks.

At any rate, Steve got his little gold star. His teachers agreed that any kid whose father would have the audacity to wear a Polynesian sport shirt and dirty sneakers to a PTA meeting deserved one.

Recognition Of Red China Aim Of Japan's Industrialists

"Japanese Attitudes Toward American Foreign Policy" was discussed by Dr. Daniel B. Ramsdell, instructor in history, at Curbstone Monday. Dr. Ramsdell was stationed in Japan from 1952 to 1955 while in the service and was there again for research work in 1956.

Dr. Ramsdell stressed that the Japanese people are of great importance to us and that we should learn more and care more about them. "Japan is the most populous nation with which we have a military alliance, and it is the largest industrial center in Asia," he stated.

Dr. Ramsdell said that there are two governmental parties in Japan, the socialist and the conservative. The socialist party is leftist, but always has been in the minority. Both parties have many factions within them.

Dr. Ramsdell emphasized that one of the major foreign problems of Japan is to gain the right to recognize Communist China.

The Japanese want to recognize Communist China because they are not afraid of its military threat. "The Japanese businessmen want commercial ties with Red China, which cannot be obtained without diplomatic relations," said Dr. Ramsdell.

Dr. Ramsdell said that he believed the United States should adopt a more flexible policy and give Japan more independence and initiative in international affairs.

"The Japanese feel that the present administration is taking more of an active interest in Asia, and is not as European-centered as before," stated Dr. Ramsdell.

Monday's speaker will be Dr. Frederick Eckman, assistant professor of English, talking on the topic "Is the Best Generation still On the Road?"

Curbstone meets at 3:30 p.m. in the Ohio Suite.

MAC Title At Stake Tomorrow
As BG Invades Ohio University

The Mid-American Conference championship is at stake tomorrow for Bowling Green. The Falcons, who currently are tied with Western Michigan for the MAC lead, need a win to assure them of at least a tie for the championship. If Bowling Green loses, the best it can finish is second.

Even if the Falcons win they won't know if they have to share the title with Western Michigan until the Broncos play at Athens the following week.

The Bobcats currently are third in the MAC with a 3-1 mark. Ohio U.'s wins have come over Toledo 10-6, Miami 28-18, and Marshall 14-7. The Bobcats lone MAC defeat came at the hands of cellar-dwelling Kent State 23-17.

Overall, the Bobcats are 5-2. Their other two wins were over Dayton 14-13 and Delaware 17-16. Ohio U.'s other loss was to Xavier 6-3.

Coach Bill Hess's Bobcats will be attempting to record their first home win of the season. Ohio U. has lost its only two home encounters.

Ohio U. is ranked fifth in the MAC in offense with a 249-yard average. On defense, the Bobcats are ranked third with an average of 221.5 yards.

Bowling Green, on the other hand, leads the conference in both offense and defense. The Falcons are averaging 299.9 yards per game and have allowed an average of just 168.4 yards.

The Bobcats' ground attack is led by Otis Wagner and Jim Albert. Going into last week's game with Marshall, fullback Wagner was the leading rusher for the Bobcats with 364 yards in 63 tries. Halfback Albert was second with 246 yards in 65 carries.

The passing leader for Ohio U. is quarterback Bob Babbitt who has completed 33 of 58 passes for 418 yards and four touchdowns.

Radio station WFOB, 1430, will broadcast the BG-OU game from Athens beginning at 2 p.m.

Jim McKee is the place kicking specialist for the Bobcats with nine conversions in nine attempts and four field goals. It was McKee's 48-yard field goal with one second remaining in the Delaware game that gave Ohio U. a one-point victory.

Bowling Green captured its second conference title two years ago at Athens when it beat Ohio U. 13-9. Last year the Bobcats broke the Falcons' 18-game winning streak by defeating Bowling Green 14-7 to cop the MAC title.

Highlights

Pi Kappa Alpha and the Senior Off-Campusers will battle it out for the all-campus intramural touch football title at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the University Stadium.

The PiKAs earned the right to be the fraternity representative by defeating Phi Delta Theta 63-37 on Nov. 1. The Phi Deltas and PiKAs were winners of their respective leagues with identical 6-0 records.

The Senior Off-Campusers were the independent champions with an 11-0 mark.

All-Star Game

Fraternity football league II all-stars defeated the league I all-stars 36-19 Monday in the University Stadium to cop the Fraternity All-Star Championship.

Jack Wellington accounted for all six of the winners' touchdowns as he passed for five and ran one himself. Bill Murphy was on the receiving end four times and Ben Gantz caught the other pass.

Dave and Don Bellissimo each scored one touchdown and Dave Bellissimo added an extra point. Joe Kucklic scored the losers' third touchdown.

The all-star players and their fraternities were: League I—Wellington, Murphy, and Tom Baldissarri. PiKA; Ben Gantz and Ben McGuire. Sigma Chi; and Jay Fickes and Oman Harvey. Theta Chi.

League II—Bellissimo's and Paul Enderle. Phi Delta; Hank Zaban, Zeta Beta Tau; Kucklic. Delta Tau Delta; Jim Fisher. Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Joe Germano, Sigma Nu.

Wrestling

Sigma Nu captured the intramural wrestling title with a total of 47 points. They were followed by Beta Gamma and PiKA with 33 and 31 points respectively. The other fraternities and points were: Sigma Chi, 20; Delta Upsilon, 16; Phi Deltas, 12; Theta Chi, 2; and Sigma Phi Epsilon and Tau Kappa Epsilon, 1.

The individual winners were: 121 pounds—Corky Logsdon, Beta Gamma; 128 pounds—Tom Flanagan, PiKA; 136 pounds—Joe Ortenzi, Sigma Nu; 145 pounds—John Elech, Sigma Nu; 155 pounds—Stephen Whiter, Sigma Chi; 165 pounds—Bob Cunningham, PiKA; 175 pounds—Jim McKelvey, DU; and unlimited, Ron Pippy, Sigma Nu.

Tennis

The team of Dotty Lemieux and Dick Leathers defeated Nancy Carr and Uli Keller, 6-3, 4-6, and 6-2, to win the Coed Tennis tournament on Oct. 8.

Marc Rinehart and Tom Manning defeated Dave Meeker and Vern West to win the independent tennis championship. Rinehart and Manning captured league II with an 8-0 record. Meeker and West were tops in league I with a 7-0 mark.

Bill Koeneemann and Lee Murray, Alpha Tau Omega, won the fraternity tennis championship over Ted Norris and Marty Omond, Sigma Chi.

Golf

Tom Bollinger and Bill Hughes captured the independent golf title by defeating Paul Addressi and Paul Vagi. Bollinger and Hughes were league II winners with a 6-0 mark. Addressi and Vagi were tops in league I with a 5-1 record.

Stu Hughes and Chuck Herrick, Sigma Chi, beat Paul Windisch and Dave Martel, Kappa Sigma, by one stroke to win the fraternity golf title.

Bowling Green, in compiling its solid 6-1 mark, has relied tremendously on its powerful ground-gaining attack built around Al Junior and Russ Hepner. In fact, Junior and Hepner are two of the main reasons the Falcons stand an excellent chance of capturing their third Mid-American Conference championship in the past five years.

Junior got the call to action this year when Don Lisbon was injured in the Western Michigan game, and has come into his own since then. The 5-11, 175-pound senior saw only limited action last year, but has proven his value to the Falcons this season by looming as a definite break-away threat.

Among The Leaders

After seven games, Junior is among the leaders for the Falcons. He is the second leading ground gainer with 313 yards in 62 carries for an average of 5.1 yards per carry. In pass receiving Junior ranks fourth with three catches for 22 yards. He has scored three touchdowns.

In five MAC games, Junior is seventh in rushing with 210 yards in 49 carries for a 4.3 yard average. He is tied for second in individual scoring with 18 points.

Seven Letters

Junior came to Bowling Green after prepping at Elyria Midview High School, where he earned seven letters, four in track and three in football.

His greatest sports thrill at Bowling Green came in 1959 when the Falcons went undefeated and copped the MAC title. It was the first time he had ever played on an undefeated and untied team, and as Al puts it: "It was really great."

After graduation he would like to teach biology. When asked about playing professional football, he replied: "I wouldn't mind it, but I really don't think it will come about."

"Lady Luck" has frowned on Hepner in the last two years. After being selected to the all-MAC second team his sophomore year, Russ has suffered knee injuries during the past two seasons. Last year he saw action in only three games, and this year was sidelined for two games with a knee injury.

However, in the five games that Hepner has played he has gained 434 yards in 92 carries to pace the Falcons in rushing. He also leads the team in punt returns with 71 yards in five carries.

Hepner not only can run the ball, but can pass and catch as well. He has thrown four times, connecting on three, for 19 yards. In pass receiving, he is the team leader with 10 catches for 118 yards.

Hepner also ranks among the top scorers for Bowling Green with 18 points.

Was Leading Rusher

Before he was injured in the Toledo game, Hepner was the leading rusher in the MAC. However, even though he has missed a majority of the conference games, he still ranks third with 264 yards in 56 carries.

Like Junior, Hepner also had an outstanding prep career as he won 10 letters in four sports at Shelby High School.

Hepner came to Bowling Green on the advice of his high school coach and because he, himself, thought he would like to play under Doyt Perry.

Hepner, 5-10, 175-pound senior, plans on becoming a physical education teacher after graduation. However, he would seriously consider pro ball. "It all depends on what kind of season I have this year," he remarked.

Both Hepner and Junior would like to commend the students on their find backing and spirit this year. In fact, Hepner calls it "the best in the MAC."

Bowling Tourney
To Begin Nov. 17

All men and women students interested in bowling in an all-campus tournament are asked to sign up in the UAO Office before Nov. 17.

Tournament play begins on Nov. 17 and runs through Nov. 29. Trophies will be awarded in both the men and women's divisions.

Semi-finals will be held in January among the top 25% in each division, and the finals will be held among the top 12 men and women in February. Discount prices will be given for both the semi-finals and finals.

Bowlers will be competing with bowlers from other schools in this region for all expense-paid trips to the national ABC and WIBC Tournaments.

A mixed bowling league is being formed on Thursday nights. Persons interested should come to the Buckeye Room in the Union Thursday night. If there is an overflow, a mixed league will be started on Wednesday nights.

Male bowlers still are needed for the 7 p.m. Monday league and the 7 p.m. Tuesday faculty league.

Marshall's 1920 football team had the rather dubious distinction of failing to register a single point while dropping eight straight games.

6 Senior Splashers
In Last Meet Tonight

By Claudia Seammen

Six senior members of the Splashers will be swimming in their last home meet when they go against Kent State at 7 p.m. tonight in the Natatorium.

The six seniors are Patricia Dow, Edwina Fink, Doyle Mavin, Karen Murphy, Alice Ponstingle, and Joyce Walker.

The Splashers will be seeking their fourth consecutive victory when they encounter the Golden Flashes. Bowling Green's three previous triumphs have been over Ohio U., 72-20, Miami, 64-23, and Wooster College, 48-21.

Holding the women's intercollegiate pool record in the 50-yard backstroke in a time of :35.6 is an accomplishment of Miss Dow from Long Island, N. Y.

Knowing how to swim since the age of four, Miss Dow wants to specialize in teaching swimming. Dancing, playing tennis, or listening to jazz records are some activities that Miss Dow enjoys.

Miss Dow has served as secretary for Splashers for two years and is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Mrs. Paul Vogel, Splasher coach, commented, "Patti sets goals for herself and then attains these goals."

Miss Fink, co-captain of the Splashers, has been active in swimming for eight years and especially likes long-distance swimming. "Because of her loyalty and leadership Eddy was voted the most valuable team member last year," Mrs. Vogel stated.

Miss Fink of New Jersey has belonged to the Amateur Athletic Union of New York and was a member of the all-American Swimming Team of 1957 which won first place in competition in Florida in the three-mile event.

During the summer months,

Miss Fink teaches swimming at a vacation playground for children.

Miss Murphy, also a co-captain of the Splashers, is the "morale builder of the team" said Mrs. Vogel. Miss Murphy was born in Brazil and has participated in an American swimming club in Buenos Aires, Argentina. During the summer, Miss Murphy teaches swimming and tennis. Her swimming specialty is the 50-yard breaststroke in which she has set the time of :41.2.

A humorous incident to her audience occurred to Miss Murphy when she began a swimming event and forgot to remove her thong sandals.

All fifteen members of Miss Walker's family are swimmers. Because the Walker home is only a block from the city pool at Napoleon, Ohio, Miss Walker has worked as life guard for two years and as assistant manager for three years at the pool.

The butterfly stroke is her favorite, but Miss Walker is "always willing to swim in any event and is the spark to the team with her personality" said Mrs. Vogel.

Miss Mavin is the type of person that "whenever she is called upon to fulfill a task, she does it willingly" stated Mrs. Vogel. Although Miss Mavin has completed only one year of swim team participation, she has taught swimming at the pool in Fostoria, has been a life guard, and has directed a water show in synchronized swimming.

Miss Ponstingle is co-publicity chairman for Splashers. Miss Ponstingle is the "most loyal person that I have worked with" said Mrs. Vogel. Her great improvement in swimming can be verified by her second-place finish in the breaststroke event during the meet against Ohio University.

FINAL HOCKEY GAME—The Ohio University game will be the final game for these nine seniors. They have helped the field hockey team to three wins and a tie to date. The victories have come over the University of Michigan 2-0, Wooster College 2-0, and Eastern Michigan 5-1. The lone tie was with Kent State 3-3. The seniors are: (bottom row, l. to r.) Donna Eubanks, Jane Colgrove, and Karen Nelson. (top row) Beverly Falk, Nancy Maneely, Carol Lenz, Caryl Pape, Judy Anderson, and Elizabeth Basco. Jessie List was absent when the picture was taken.

10 Hockey Team Seniors
Perform For Last Time

By Karen Nelson

Bowling Green women's hockey team will play its last intercollegiate game of the year tomorrow at Ohio University. The hockey team has a record of three wins and one tie, defeating Wooster, Eastern Michigan, and the University of Michigan, while tying Kent State. Previous scores show 12 goals for Bowling Green as against only four for their opponents in the four games.

With the exception of next week's intrasquad match, this will be the last game for the 10 seniors in Hockey Club. Seven of the usual 11 starters are seniors.

Co-captains Donna Eubanks and Karen Nelson hold down the wing positions on the forward line. Both girls have a favorite way of outmaneuvering their halfbacks. Donna has perfected a draw which has been known to leave her "half stepping on her own feet." Karen likes to scoop the ball over the stick of her halfback, as this lets her escape a tackle and leaves her opponent behind her, facing in the wrong direction. Both girls are high scorers for the team.

Halfbacks Carol Lenz and Nancy Maneely have been "big thorns in the sides of the opponents all year," according to Miss Dorothy Luedtke, coach for the Hockey team. Carol has been a starter since she was a freshman and has been the mainstay on both offense and defense. She also is a high scorer. Nancy is the right halfback and has proven her skill on many occasions. "She usually manages to be just where she is needed," Miss Luedtke said.

Bev Faulk and Judy Anderson are the starting fullbacks. Time after time, these two break up the scoring threats of the opposing team and get Bowling Green back on the offense.

The last line of defense is goalie Jane Colgrove.

"Because of the fine job done by the other members on defense, Jane doesn't have too much work to do, but she is a fine clutch performer when given the opportunity," Miss Luedtke said. When the chips are down, Jane usually manages to come through with a save. She has allowed only one goal in the four games.

Caryl Pape is a valuable substitute for the strenuous halfback position, and versatile Liz Basco can play almost any position on the team.

Jessi List, also a senior, is the team manager.

Seedling Of Historic Elm Tree Grows On University Campus

By Bob Buzogany

A descendent of the days of the Ohio Indian is living on the University campus. Standing by the northwest corner of South Hall is a seedling of the historic Logan Elm.

The seedling, which was planted during World War II, was brought to Bowling Green by the late E. C. Powell, former chairman of the industrial arts department.

A discussion concerning Indian history prompted the history department to have Mr. Powell acquire the seedling.

Now approximately 30 feet tall, the tree is marked with a black patch, which was used to heal it after the trunk split in a violent wind storm in the spring of 1960. It has been sprayed regularly and has been administered the zinc nail treatment for Dutch Elm disease.

"We have used all the precautions we know about to preserve the tree," said Dr. Frank J. Prout, president emeritus.

The famous Logan Elm still may be seen in a small state park south of Circleville on the banks of the Scioto Creek. More than 200 years old and dying of old age, the large elm got its name and fame from a meeting held under its branches Oct. 10, 1774.

In the spring of 1774, Mingo Chief Logan's family was massacred, allegedly by a party of whites led by Captain Cresap, under the pretext of retaliating for Indian murders. Logan at once sought revenge by making war for several months and killing many settlers.

Following a decisive battle at Point Pleasant on the Ohio River, the Indians, with the exception of Logan, were ready to call a halt to hostilities. For the purpose of adding the Mingo chief's signature to the peace treaty, Col. John Gibson was sent to confer with Logan. They met under the large elm 187 years ago.

At this meeting, Logan allegedly gave an eloquent speech which first was published in Thomas Jefferson's "Notes on Virginia" and has been translated into several languages. Students of Mingo lore contend that Logan's masterpiece was a passionate cry straight from the heart of a noble savage.

The famous speech begins, "I appeal to any white man to say, if ever he entered Logan's cabin hungry and he gave him not meat . . ." Logan went on to tell how he had been a friend to the white man until his family was murdered and then he had to seek revenge.

Logan concluded his speech by saying, "Who is there to mourn for Logan? Not one."

Mac E. Noggle, Pickaway County historian, said that many of the smaller elms in the state park built around the Logan Elm sprang from the tree's seeds. A state nursery near Columbus raises thousands of elms from Logan Elm seedlings.

One grows on the statehouse lawn in Columbus and another in Washington, D.C. An entire New Orleans city preserve is covered with trees originated from the Logan Elm.

When the tree dies, the historical heritage of the Logan Elm will be carried on by its offspring, including the tree on campus.

Speech Department To Sponsor HS Speech, Drama Conference

A combined annual high school Speech and Drama Conference and the Northwestern Ohio Regional Conference of the National Thespian Society will be held Saturday at the University.

The conference will begin at 9 a.m. when students from participating high schools will register in the ballroom for the various activities they are interested in attending.

At 9:30 a.m. there will be a program welcoming the students and their faculty sponsors to the conference. Prof. Hayden Carruth of the University of Michigan will speak. His topic will be "Don't Just Stand There."

Sectional Meetings

There will be sectional meetings for students in voice production, radio and television, declamation, debate, drama acting, and technical aspects, as well as sectional meetings for the faculty accompanying them. At 10:30 a.m. Dr. Melvin Hyman, associate professor of speech, and Professor Carruth will speak to the faculty sponsors.

The speaker for the luncheon in the ballroom will be Prof. Willard Friederich of Marietta College.

In the afternoon, various speech demonstrations will be given by the high school students with critiques of the demonstration following.

Separate sectional meetings regarding drama activities will take place at 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. for students and faculty. One-act plays will be given by Tiffin Columbian

High School and Upper Sandusky High School.

"Medea" Presentation

At 7 p.m. a dress rehearsal of Robinson Jeffers' adaptation of "Medea" will be given by the University Theatre in the Main Auditorium as a climax to the day's activities.

Harold B. Obee, assistant professor of speech, who is in charge of the program, said, "This is the fourteenth year that the speech department has held this conference. Speech activities have not always been included, but the drama activities have been a part of it from the beginning."

"The entire speech department faculty and most of the graduate students are involved in this conference," he said.

"In addition, the conference will serve as a one-day laboratory for Education 371 students as a practical experience for their methods course."

BG Represented At Speech, Hearing Annual Convention

Two faculty members, five graduate students, and 19 undergraduate students attended the annual convention of the Association of Speech and Hearing held in Chicago last Sunday through Wednesday.

Dr. Melvin Hyman, associate professor of speech, and Miss Alice Greiner, associate professor of speech, headed the trip.

The five graduate students who attended the convention were Jean E. Stuelpnagel, Evonne L. Armstrong, Ash M. Hawk, John G. Dudley, and Marian L. Marshall.

While in Chicago, the group stayed at the Hotel Sherman, where the convention was held.

Each year the members of the Association present papers they have written the previous year and study new techniques in speech and hearing therapy at the convention.
